

Helpful Hint

Brought to you by Emma Shaner -Cody Elementary, Millard Public Schools 21-22

Partnering with P.E.

Partnering with the P.E. teacher in your building can be an intentional way to streamline vocabulary and learning concepts between special areas. I have found that students respond well to common language and activities specifically related to movement when reinforced in music class and P.E.

I am sharing some of my favorite resources from a P.E. blog I follow.

I have found several things that support movement, folk dancing, body awareness, problem solving, that tie in so well with Orff Schulwerk.

Although some of the websites offer materials to purchase, they have plenty of free resources to take advantage of!

The Physical Educator -Main Blog Site

Shapes/Levels/Movement Cards

Class Values/Rules/Character -Respectful, Responsible, Safe, Caring/Grateful
are becoming more popular as school-wide rules. We printed and laminated large poster-sized shields and put them in the gym and music room!

Free Resource Page

Noteable resources from SHAPE:

(Some of the free resources require an email address, but worth it!!)

Shapeamerica.org

Early Childhood Movement Experiences

FREE Movement Lessons